ANNOUNCEMENTS & COMMUNICATIONS

Councilwoman Bellamy shared highlights from the annual report of the Mohawk Towpath Scenic Byway Coalition. She described the byway's connection to the Mohawk River, the region's Native American history and traditions, and the importance of peace and cooperation. She noted that the Mohawk Towpath Scenic Byway is celebrating its 21st anniversary and has received numerous national awards, serving as an example to other scenic byways. Councilwoman Bellamy said she appreciated the report and the reflection on the byway's history, significance, and hopes for the future.

Councilwoman Reid announced that the 2026–2027 Fall/Winter Recreation Booklet has been mailed to Town residents and is also available at the Parks and Recreation office. She highlighted several new programs, including an adult kickball league, adult trail walking programs, Adventure Challenge Family Climb evenings, martial arts for teens and adults, and the new Harvest Hustle event scheduled for September 26 at Town Center Park. Councilwoman Reid also noted that the summer Performing Arts program at Clifton Common is winding down. The next performance will be the family-friendly Mr. Twisty show on August 19 at 7:00 p.m., followed by the final concert of the season, featuring Skeeter Creek on August 27 at 7:00 p.m. She encouraged residents to attend the remaining events.

Councilman Fantini noted that the previous Town Board meeting was canceled due to National Night Out. He said the event was a success and provided an opportunity for residents to meet and recognize the Town's first responders and others who serve the community.

Supervisor Barrett reported that the Town's camp and pool season is winding down, while the golf course will remain open, weather permitting. He commended the lifeguards and counselors for their work throughout the season and praised the Parks and Recreation Department for successfully managing the programs and addressing the various challenges that arose. He thanked the staff for their efforts and dedication throughout the summer.

PUBLIC PRIVILEGE 7:08 p.m.

Caryl Hugg of Jonathan Drive addressed Resolution 20, which would transfer the Town's only remaining tenured Deputy Town Clerk to another department. She urged the Board to carefully consider the impact of the transfer on the Town Clerk's Office and residents, noting the importance of continuity, institutional knowledge, and experienced staff in carrying out the office's responsibilities. She expressed concern that the transfer would leave the office with three inexperienced employees and asked what safeguards or plans are in place to address the loss of experience and maintain the level of service to residents. Ms. Hugg emphasized that her comments were not intended to criticize any individual employee but to raise concerns about staffing and continuity. She also questioned the difference between the position's posted salary of approximately $66,740 and the starting salary of $72,897 identified in Resolution 20. She urged the Board to consider these issues before approving the resolution.

Supervisor Barrett acknowledged the concerns raised regarding the proposed employee transfer and agreed that such decisions require careful consideration. He stated that when an employee moves from one department to another, the Town should evaluate the impact on the employee's current department, as well as the potential benefits to the receiving department. He emphasized the importance of considering what may be lost and gained through the transfer and agreed that these factors should be carefully evaluated.

Damara Fredette of Usher Road addressed Resolution 13 concerning the proposed banning of Flock cameras. She noted that a public hearing on the matter is scheduled for September 15 but stated that she would be unable to attend. She encouraged the Board to carefully consider all aspects of the proposal, particularly concerning where camera data is sent, with whom it is shared, and where the information is stored. She emphasized that these privacy and data-management concerns are significant and should not be overlooked or considered solely for financial reasons.

Councilwoman Reid thanked Ms. Fredette and noted that, even if she is unable to attend the public informational meeting, she may submit written comments to the Town Clerk's Office to be read into the record.

Paul Wiger of Route 146A addressed the Board regarding New York State legislation providing property and school tax exemptions for certain 100% disabled Veterans. He acknowledged that the issue may be controversial due to the potential impact on tax revenue but expressed his support for the exemption, noting that he believes the Town has a strong tax base and that residents would support assisting Veterans. Mr. Wiger spoke on behalf of Veterans generally and emphasized the significance of military service. He shared that he is a Marine Corps Veteran who served in Vietnam, was wounded in service, and received a Purple Heart. He noted his understanding that another Town Board meeting on the matter would be scheduled.

Supervisor Barrett stated that he had introduced a resolution to schedule a public hearing regarding the New York State Veterans' tax exemption program. He explained that the public hearing is the first step in the process and that the program's eligibility requirements are established by New York State. He expressed his hope that the Town Board would approve the measure following the public hearing. Supervisor Barrett also noted that, in his capacity as Chairman of the Saratoga County Board of Supervisors, he introduced a similar resolution at the County level, where a public hearing will also be held. He explained that each taxing jurisdiction must independently opt into the program in order to provide the exemption to eligible Veterans. He noted that the Town-level tax savings may be limited due to the Town's low tax rate, while eligible Veterans could realize additional savings through the County exemption.

Mr. Wiger acknowledged that the legislation initially proposed a mandatory exemption but was subsequently made discretionary for local taxing jurisdictions. He noted that some municipalities have expressed concern about the loss of tax revenue but stated that, in his view, the financial impact would be relatively small when considered on a per-resident basis.

Supervisor Barrett stated that the maximum estimated impact on County tax revenue would be approximately 0.2%, noting that the actual impact could ultimately be lower.

Mr. Wiger asked whether there was optimism that the matter might move forward.

Supervisor Barrett stated that the matter is expected to move forward at the county level, noting that it has widespread support among his colleagues. He expressed hope that the Town Board would also support it.

Mr. Wiger expressed his support, stating that Veterans, particularly those who are 100% disabled, deserve all the benefits available to them. He also spoke positively about the Veterans Administration hospital in Albany and the quality of health care he receives there.

Supervisor Barrett thanked Mr. Wiger for his military service and acknowledged that, although he also served, he did not experience the same extent of service or lasting issues. He expressed his appreciation and offered his blessings to Mr. Wiger.

Ann Connolly of Valdepenas Lane thanked Supervisor Barrett for the Veterans' exemption resolution and noted that several Clifton Park residents, including disabled Veteran homeowners, had asked whether the Town would consider the option. She then asked about notary services available through the Town Clerk's Office and whether the Deputy Town Clerk would be replaced.

Town Clerk Fantini confirmed that there are other notaries available in the Clerk's Office. She also stated that the Clerk's office plans to replace the departing staff member, noting that she will be difficult to replace due to her strong performance, while expressing support for her as she moves on to a new opportunity.

Supervisor Barrett encouraged residents to be aware that the County will also be holding a public hearing on the Veterans' exemption. He invited anyone wishing to provide comments to send him an email or note, which he would share with his colleagues. He added that he does not anticipate significant opposition at the County level.

No one else wished to heard.

Public Privilege closed at 7:20 p.m.

PRESENTATION:

Matt Liponis, Esq., related to a request for relief from solar moratorium

Supervisor Barrett introduced Matt Liponis of Hudson Ross, who was present to discuss relief from the solar moratorium for a submitted project. He noted that he did not recall the date the project was submitted.

Matt Liponis stated that he believed the project was submitted sometime in July and then prepared to begin his presentation.

Olivia Sprontro identified herself as being with Nexamp and clarified that Matt Liponis was representing the company.

Supervisor Barrett asked for confirmation that Ms. Sprontro was with the solar company.

Olivia Sprontro confirmed that was correct.

Olivia Sprontro, Development Manager with Nexamp, provided background on the company and presented a proposed 4-megawatt AC community solar project at 234 Sugar Hill Road. She explained that the project would occupy approximately 19 acres of a 40-acre parcel and connect to National Grid's overhead lines, with the electricity sold at a discount to local low- and moderate-income customers. Ms. Sprontro requested relief from the solar moratorium enacted in June, stating that Nexamp had been actively developing the project for several months before the moratorium. She noted that the project had undergone engineering and utility studies with National Grid and that Nexamp had invested approximately $130,000 in transformer equipment to preserve eligibility for federal tax credits. She explained that the project must be placed in service by the end of 2030 to retain those tax credits and expressed concern that the moratorium, permitting process, construction schedule, and potential utility interconnection delays could prevent the project from meeting that deadline. She therefore asked the Town Board to consider granting relief from the moratorium.

Matt Liponis thanked the Town Board and provided an overview of the public utility variance standard as it applies to variances and moratoria. He discussed the legal history of the standard, including the Consolidated Edison v. Hoffman case, and explained that New York courts have subsequently applied the standard to public utilities. Mr. Liponis referenced a 2024 Third Department decision, Freepoint, which he stated established that solar facilities qualify as public utilities and are therefore subject to a less restrictive zoning review standard. He noted that the application of this standard to moratoria is still being litigated and that no appellate decision has yet been issued on that issue. He outlined three factors for the Town Board to consider: whether the facility is a public necessity required to provide safe and adequate service; whether the project would have minimal impacts on the surrounding community; and whether constructing the project at the proposed location with the requested relief is more feasible than constructing it without the relief. Mr. Liponis noted that the applicant had submitted a detailed application of approximately 235 pages and offered to provide additional information to assist the Board in its deliberations.

Supervisor Barrett questioned whether the application had been submitted after the solar moratorium was enacted.

Matt Liponis confirmed that the application was submitted after the solar moratorium was enacted and noted that the moratorium contains a provision allowing for a hardship waiver.

Supervisor Barrett clarified that even if an applicant is subject to the moratorium, they may still appear before the Planning Board and continue the review process.

Matt Liponis clarified that the current moratorium does not allow the project to proceed before the Planning Board. He explained that, if a moratorium waiver is granted, the applicant could then move forward with the Planning Board review based on the current plan.

Supervisor Barrett stated that, in his view, the applicant would be able to proceed before the Planning Board at their own risk, with the understanding that the moratorium could still affect the application.

Matt Liponis said that the applicant would be willing to proceed before the Planning Board, but that, after seeing the moratorium enacted, they wanted to formally submit a hardship waiver and proceed through that process. He indicated that the goal was to move the project forward while addressing the moratorium's requirements. Matt Liponis emphasized that the applicant would prefer to proceed through the proper process rather than risk going before the Planning Board only to be told that the moratorium prevents the project from moving forward. He reiterated that they therefore wanted to submit a hardship waiver to the Town Board first.

Supervisor Barrett stated that the applicant could continue making progress before the Planning Board during the moratorium but cautioned that any changes to the rules could affect the application and that proceeding during the moratorium would be at the applicant's own risk. He indicated that continuing the Planning Board process would not guarantee that the project could ultimately proceed under the current regulations.

Matt Liponis noted that, under New York State law, regulations can change during the course of a project. He contrasted New York with Texas, where he stated that an interconnection agreement generally subjects a project to the laws in effect when the agreement was executed.

He emphasized that, in New York, obtaining an interconnection agreement does not necessarily protect a project from subsequent changes in applicable laws or regulations.

Supervisor Barrett stated that he was familiar with the latest New York State Court of Appeals decision and the current state of New York law regarding where renewable energy projects may be sited and the requirements governing their siting.

Matt Liponis concluded that the applicant wanted to make a formal presentation and place its position on the record. He stated that they were available to answer any additional questions and were willing to return at the following month's meeting if necessary. He acknowledged that the Town Board would need to make its determination on the record during a public session.

Supervisor Barrett advised the applicant that, in his view, the best course would be to pursue the process necessary to eliminate the moratorium's applicability to the project. He encouraged the applicant to seek relief so that the project would no longer be subject to the moratorium. New York State guidance recognizes that moratorium laws may include a process for property owners to seek waivers or other relief.

Councilwoman Reid asked whether the portion of the property outlined in red is currently being actively farmed, noting that the image provided was too small to clearly determine the land's current use.

Olivia Sprontro explained that the property contains two cleared areas. The larger, approximately five-acre area is not currently being farmed, and the landowner has unsuccessfully sought farmers to lease the property for nearly a decade. The smaller, approximately three-acre area is currently leased and used to grow corn, although previous attempts to grow other crops have had limited success. She stated that the landowner had also pursued various state programs and tax-relief options related to maintaining the property as farmland but had been denied several forms of assistance, leading her to view the proposed solar facility as one of the few viable options for continuing to own the property. Ms. Sprontro also described measures included in the application to address the agricultural character of the property and the Town's open-space goals. These included maintaining existing tree-line screening within the property boundaries, complying with New York State Department of Agriculture development guidelines, protecting and retaining topsoil, and implementing required erosion and stormwater controls. She further proposed planting pollinator-friendly and nitrogen-fixing vegetation beneath the solar modules, avoiding herbicides and pesticides, and using sheep for vegetation management. She stated that the project would also comply with applicable stormwater and erosion-control requirements.

Matt Liponis emphasized the agrivoltaics approach proposed for the project, explaining that the solar panels would be elevated above the ground while sheep would graze throughout the property for vegetation management. He noted that, over time, this approach can improve soil health through grazing and the use of a pollinator seed mix containing flowering plants, which can also support bees and other pollinators. He added that, based on his experience with solar development projects throughout New York State, this type of proposal is not standard and represents an effort to go above and beyond typical practices. He characterized the project as maintaining the property's agricultural character by combining sheep grazing with solar generation.

Councilwoman Bellamy asked whether the applicant has a plan to ensure that the trees planted for screening survive and remain healthy, noting that she has observed other solar farms where closely planted screening trees have died.

Matt Liponis explained that the project would retain the existing natural vegetation around the property, rather than relying solely on newly planted screening trees. He noted that there may be a few limited areas where additional work or vegetation could be necessary.

Olivia Sprontro explained that the applicant intends to maintain the existing natural screening around the solar facility and noted that she had already requested a correction to the screening line shown on a future plan. She stated that additional screening may not be necessary given the existing vegetation and the proposed access arrangement. Ms. Sprontro added that, if the Town requires additional screening, the applicant would work with the Town on the appropriate species, spacing, and watering plan, taking into account the season in which the plantings occur.

She noted that newly planted mature trees can sometimes die when planted during inappropriate conditions, particularly in the summer.

Supervisor Barrett stated that screening and related site-design matters are under the purview of the Planning Board, and therefore the Town Board did not need to address those issues at this time.

Councilwoman Reid asked whether the applicant currently owns sheep for the proposed operation or whether maintaining sheep on the property would be a requirement or stipulation of the project.

Olivia Sprontro clarified that the applicant does not currently own sheep. She explained that they generally work with local sheep herders for vegetation management and have used this approach on other projects. She indicated that they believe sheep grazing would be a suitable option for this site and that the scope of the sheep-grazing program could be expanded as appropriate.

Attorney Dailey asked what the applicant expected from the Town in terms of a response or action following the presentation.

Matt Liponis stated that he did not necessarily expect the Town Board to make a decision that evening. He noted that any determination would need to be made in a public forum and suggested that the Board could defer its decision until the following month, depending on how the Board wished to proceed. He acknowledged that the Board could vote that evening if it chose to do so, but emphasized that the applicant was not pressuring the Board to make an immediate decision.

Supervisor Barrett summarized that, while the applicant would prefer a decision as soon as possible, he cautioned that the process should not be unnecessarily delayed.

Councilwoman Reid noted that the Town Board had recently approved the formation of a Solar Moratorium Steering Committee, with its first meeting scheduled for the following day. She stated that the proposed project would likely be discussed with that committee, as well as the Agriculture and Farmland Protection Committee, because the property is located within a prime agricultural district in Clifton Park. She added that both committees include volunteers and subject-matter experts whose input would likely be valuable to the Board in considering the application.

Matt Liponis stated that the applicant would be happy to participate in discussions with the Town's committees. He noted that representatives from Nexamp have extensive experience with solar projects, including approximately 1,500 megawatts of projects, and offered their expertise to assist the Town with its consideration of solar development issues.

DECLARED ADOPTED

Supervisor Barrett explained that the Barney Road Pool was scheduled to be the next pool to receive a new liner, following recent relining projects at the Burning Bush and Locust pools. Based on prior assessments, the Barney Road liner was approaching the end of its useful life, and the Town had planned ahead to avoid an unexpected failure that could result in the pool being unusable. Supervisor Barrett stated that engineering and bid preparations began the previous year, and the Town has now received a bid for the work. He noted that only a limited number of companies perform this specialized work, making the bidding pool relatively small. He emphasized that the timing is important, as materials must be ordered and work should begin as soon as possible after the current pool season, with additional work completed in the spring to meet the targeted late-May opening. Although the liner has performed well during the current season, Supervisor Barrett said the Town does not want to extend its useful life too far. Starting the process now should allow sufficient time to complete the relining, fill and prepare the pool, and have Barney Road Pool ready for opening day next season.

Resolution No. 247 of 2026, a resolution approving renewal of an agreement for GPS software for Town Vehicles from State Contract.

Supervisor Barrett discussed the Town's acquisition of approximately 32 acres on Riverview Road as an important open-space preservation effort. He noted that the Town has permanently preserved approximately 2,000 acres over the past several decades, although competition for land has increased in recent years, including from solar development. Supervisor Barrett explained that preserving open space through acquisition requires significant time and commitment from property owners who work with the Town toward having the land eventually become public property. He said the Riverview Road property represents a successful acquisition that has been discussed at several prior Town Board meetings. He stated that moving forward with the proposed measure would allow the Town to ensure it is comfortable with the property boundaries and other related details.

Resolution No. 249 of 2026, a bond resolution dated August 18, 2026, authorizing the issuance of not to exceed $337,000 serial bonds, to finance the cost of certain water system improvements in the Eastside Drive and Route 146A area of the Town of Clifton Park.

Introduced by Councilman Manir, who moved its adoption, seconded by Councilwoman Reid.

WHEREAS, the Town Board of the Town of Clifton Park on April 15, 2024 adopted Resolution 102 of 2024, a Bond Resolution authorizing the issuance of not to exceed $3,370,000

WHEREAS, the total estimated maximum cost of the Project has increased to $3,707,000; and

WHEREAS, the Town Board now desires to authorize the expenditure and appropriation of additional funds in connection with the Project, and the issuance of additional serials bonds of the Town to finance such additional appropriations; now, therefore, be it

RESOLVED by the Town Board of the Town of Clifton Park, Saratoga County, New York, as follows:

Section 1. The Town of Clifton Park, New York (the "Town") is hereby authorized to undertake the acquisition, construction and installation of a water supply and distribution system for the distribution of public water for properties located in the Eastside Drive and Route 146A area of the Town, including but not limited to, the design, construction, and interconnection of certain pipes, valves, fire hydrants and related infrastructure, and the acquisition of machinery, equipment or apparatus required in connection therewith, at an estimated maximum cost of $3,707,000, constituting an increase of $337,000 over the estimated maximum cost authorized in the Original Bond Resolution.

PUBLIC PRIVILEGE 8:26 P.M.

Anthony Morelli of Gloucester Street congratulated Aaron and Raina on the adoption of the resolutions and thanked the Board for advancing the public hearing regarding the disabled Veterans exemption. He noted that the state recently authorized municipalities and counties to opt into the exemption and expressed support for the Town and County taking the opportunity to assist disabled Veterans. Mr. Morelli stated that he had heard from two disabled Veterans who supported the measure and emphasized that the exemption could provide meaningful financial assistance to veterans whose disabilities limit their ability to work. He also noted the Town and County's longstanding history of supporting and recognizing Veterans and expressed hope that the Board would ultimately approve the exemption unanimously.

Supervisor Barrett spoke in support of the disabled Veteran's exemption, noting the many ways military service can result in physical injury or long-term health impacts. He referenced combat-related injuries as well as the physical demands of military training and service, including repetitive activities, physical fitness requirements, and the wear and tear associated with years of service, even for those who do not serve in combat. Supervisor Barrett emphasized that veterans can sustain significant physical impacts through both combat and training and stated that the proposed exemption would be a small but meaningful gesture of appreciation and support for those who have served the country.

Caryl Hugg of Jonathan Drive followed up on a prior resident's question and asked Town Clerk Fantini whether she had obtained her notary commission.

Town Clerk Fantini stated that she is still in the process of obtaining her notary commission.

Caryl Hugg addressed the Town Board regarding resident communication and ongoing uncertainty surrounding the Ethics Board. She questioned the status of the Ethics Board and pending ethics complaints, expressing concern about uncertainty regarding its membership, voting authority, and ability to conduct business. Ms. Hugg also raised concerns about an interaction during a prior meeting in which she believed the Town Clerk directed a Councilman regarding how to vote on a resolution. She requested greater transparency and accountability in the handling of ethics complaints. Ms. Hugg further stated that she had emailed Councilman Fantini with specific questions and had not received an acknowledgment or response within the requested timeframe. She expressed concern that residents and department heads were having difficulty receiving responses and questioned how residents should communicate with the Councilman if neither public meetings nor email provide an effective means of obtaining answers. Ms. Hugg also questioned the timing of meeting agenda materials and asked whether draft materials could be made available on Fridays.

Supervisor Barrett stated that the Town's Ethics Board and ethics law have been problematic since the beginning of the year. He expressed hope that the ongoing issues would be resolved soon.

Ann Connolly of Valdepenas Lane stated that she was seeking clarification regarding the solar company's presentation to the Town Board, noting that such presentations require approval by a Town Board member. She asked who authorized the presentation and received confirmation that it had been approved by a Board member. Ms. Connolly expressed concern that granting relief to one solar farm could establish a precedent for other solar projects seeking similar relief. She referenced the Town's 180-day moratorium, adopted on May 19, 2026, to allow the Town to conduct due diligence. She questioned whether granting relief to the company would effectively override the moratorium and expressed concern about the precedent and public perception that could result.

Councilwoman Bellamy clarified that the moratorium was not overridden.

Ann Connolly clarified that she was referring to the potential granting of relief from the moratorium, rather than stating that it had already been overridden. She expressed concern that granting such relief could be confusing to residents and reiterated that she found the solar company's presentation to the Town Board unusual.

No one else wished to be heard.

Public Privilege closed at 8:38 P.M.
